APPENDIX 1

Information on skills, interests and occupational background of Club Members that could facilitate the development of the Club

The Club is keen to involve as wide a range of the membership as possible in the running of the club through participation with developments essential for a club which has now become a very large organisation providing sporting, cultural and community activities across all age ranges, genders and playing codes. A range of different skills and experience including coaching, mentoring and managing players and teams is essential to achieve and maintain progress and additional volunteers to deliver these activities are needed. However the range of experience and skills required to manage a large GAA club extends well beyond the playing field and there is an urgent need for members with management, organisational, administrative, community development, fund raising and cultural experience and skills in order to take forward programmes of development including grant application and community development.

It is likely that within the wider club membership there will be many who have interests, occupational backgrounds, and/or skills and experience that could make an important contribution to the club's development strategy and it would therefore be appreciated if you would be willing to offer some time, no matter how limited this may be, to assist the club. Please take the opportunity to provide the basic information below. This would assist the club in pursuit of its objectives in the coming year.

Cardiac Screening

In recent years there has been an increasing awareness of the issue of sudden cardiac death in young people participating in sport. Thankfully such events are extremely rare and young healthy people should be encouraged to participate in sport with all the benefits it brings.

It is, however, important to identify anyone who might have any risk factors for a sudden cardiac event before they get involved in competitive sport.

The Medical, Scientific and Welfare Committee of the GAA have updated its position on Cardiac Screening. The GAA now advise that the most effective way to identify risk is for players over the age of 14 to undergo cardiac screening on one occasion. It is also advised that the procedure be repeated before the age of 25.

If players wish to get screened it is recommended by the GAA that they should consult their family doctor in the first instance. Screening consists of the completion of the GAA's Cardiac Screening Questionnaire, a Physical Examination and an ECG.

For more information (and to download the GAA Cardiac Screening Questionnaire) visit the following link: www.gaa.ie/medical-and-player-welfare/cardiac-screening/.

As part of its commitment in this context and to aid diagnosis, the GAA in conjunction with the Gaelic Players Association (GPA) have implemented a programme whereby any doctor carrying out a cardiac screening programme for a GAA player will be able to send that ECG to the cardiac department in the Mater Hospital Dublin for Dr Joseph Galvin to have a sports cardiology opinion on the ECG.

We encourage all active players to participate in the new Cardiac Screening Protocol recommended by the GAA.

In addition we request that all players who have completed the procedure advise the club of any circumstances arising that may impact on their health and their capacity to be involved in physical activity.
